

No, that gal in the ponytail is not me. But I did draw her myself . She's an original. November 4, 1998 is my 40th birthday so for fun I made this silly little "Pin the Ponytail on the Party Girl" game just for you. Enjoy!

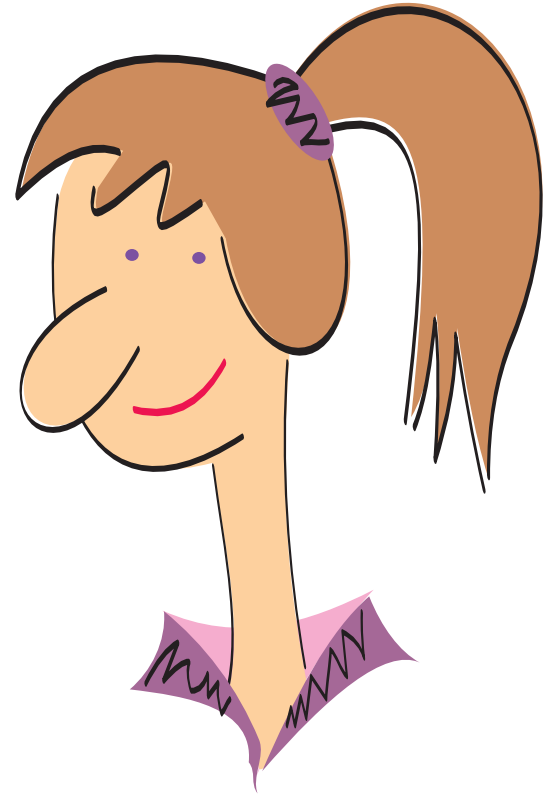

jacci howard bear
your mining co. guide to desktop publishing
<http://desktoppub.miningco.com/>

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print pages 2 and 3 on your color printer.
- Cut out the ponytails on page 3.
- Use tape or pins and the general rules of play for the more familiar "Pin the Tail on the Donkey" birthday party game. Or, make up your own rules.
- Does the party girl look like the birthday girl or someone else at the party? Or does she resemble a favorite (or not so favorite) teacher? Give her a name and let your partygoers go wild. It's just a game, have fun.

HOW I DID IT:

- For those who want to know these things, here's how this file was created:
- Images drawn using the Freehand and Shape tools in CorelDRAW 7.
- Images exported as EPS.
- Images placed (imported) into PageMaker 6.5.
- Text (this page) added.
- File exported (distilled) as an Acrobat PDF file.

PIN THE PONYTAIL ON THE PARTY GIRL

PIN THE PONYTAIL ON THE PARTY GIRL

